

Learning Manifesto

Rules/Axioms

- I strive to encourage people to learn new things, keep growing and become self-reliant, and to enjoy the process.
- I strive to learn new things for myself and to keep growing.
- I strive to create useful tools and techniques that will bring value to others.

Corollaries

- In order to encourage people to learn and grow, I should inspire them, while also showing the inevitable pitfalls and growing pains, and how to approach them.
- In order to encourage people to learn new things, I should cultivate their curiosity.
- In order to help people become self-reliant, to myself learn new things, and to build useful tools, I must keep improving my own techniques, rigor and diligence, while documenting the process for others.